

To the Graduate Admissions Committee,

I am writing with great enthusiasm to express my interest in the graduate program at Harvard University. My academic background and research interests align closely with the strengths of your department, particularly in the field of Economics.

Throughout my academic journey, I have developed a keen interest in Economics, which has been further nurtured by my engagement with seminal publications in prestigious journals including American Economic Review(AER), Quarterly Journal of Economics(QJE), and Econometrica. Regular reading of these publications has provided me with valuable insights into current methodological approaches and theoretical frameworks that shape contemporary scholarship in this discipline.

My professional aspiration is to pursue a career as economic analyst, where I can apply analytical rigor to address complex challenges. In preparation for this path, I have cultivated a diverse skill set encompassing Microsoft Powerpoint, Mandarin, Power BI, Microsoft Excel, Auditing, etc, which I believe will enable me to thrive in both academic and professional settings.

What particularly draws me to Harvard University is its reputation for innovative research and collaborative academic environment. The opportunity to work alongside distinguished faculty members who are at the forefront of Economics research represents an ideal setting for my graduate studies and professional development.

I am confident that my academic preparation, technical competencies, and research interests would allow me to make meaningful contributions to your program while benefiting immensely from the intellectual resources at Harvard University.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Respectfully yours,

ZHAO WEI
